

Press Releases

Tuesday, 14 August 2007

Last Updated Thursday, 16 August 2007

You only have one chance to make an explosive impact. We understand that.

Creating a well written, knock out press release is a developed skill. We follow an established pattern to creating press releases that will give your company or website the powerful impact it needs to make in the written media. Why else have a press release?

Press releases enable your company or website to draw on the marketing strategies used by many successful businesses. Most new sites are relatively unknown. To gain any kind of edge in todays marketplace, it is vital that your site builds credibility through organic publicity. Spend money once and watch the results pour in.

Mediocre and good press releases just don't cut it. You don't want to just make an impression..you want to make an IMPACT! Your press release needs to blow your competition out of the water and be professional in doing so. Our press release writers work offline for major publications as well as online so you are guranteed to get a seasoned writer for your next press release..

Professionalism, quality, and cost conscience pricing. Your other options pale in consideration of what is being offered here. Go out to another provider, price them, talk to them, and then come back to us. Our pedigree and service speaks for itself.

Order your press release today and get your new company or website the credibility it deserves.

CLICK HERE TO ORDER YOUR NEW PRESS RELEASE NOW